PRIMES

LEADERS OF LEVIDIER. 1/3 GOVERNING INSTITUTIONS

The Primes of Ent are the public Leaders of the Ent empire. They are one of the three political institutions that runs the Ent empire making up the Triangle trinity alongside the Al She'Ahd and the Cru'ix. Their symbol is represented by the torch of flames from which the phoenix comes fourth and eventually returns to be born again. Ironically the two phoenixes are symbolic of there being two primes themselves born from unity and cause.

The primes are who each houses who joins or is accepted in the Ent pledge to and who in return pledges to each house. This creates cohesion and unity in the Ent as each house is seen as equal and valuable regardless of personal bias or conflict. The primes ensures everyone gets what they need and are treated with acceptance, value and respect.

AL SHE'AHd

KNOWN AS THE BLACK RAVENS, PERSIAN CATS, AND LEVIDIAN VIPERS. THEY ARE THE FEMALE KINGS OF LEVIDIER AND 1/3 GOVERNING POLITICAL INSTITUTIONS

"A mans love is a bonus The true Prize is his respect" "Dwayne Burrell "

The Al She'Ahd are a group of women in the Ent empire who are responsible for securing the Ent, it's resources and it's members. They were formed together in respect and recognition for all that each of them did and continued to do to create, build and empower the Ent empire. Also out of respect and recognition for their exceptional skill, capability and achievements while doing so.

The Al She'Ahd women are trusted without question. To even be considered for a position of Al She'Ahd a person would have had to have proven themselves through the test of actions and sacrifice more than 60 times just to be considered for an Al She'Ahd position. The Al She'AHd is one of the three governing institutions of the Ent empire, Alongside the Primes and the Cruix, In the trinity of Ent they represent the spiritual aspect . They also serve the purposes of either empowering or limiting an individuals power within the Ent as without the resources the Al She'Ahd women guards a person cannot properly lead or govern. Therefore for there to be a prime one must have the respect and support of the Al She'Ahd Women. The Al She'Ahd are taught strictly in many subjects and disciplines in order to never be caught unawares, these range from physical things such as outdoor survival, subjects such as psychology, Business and finance.

The primary focus of the Al She'Ahd women is a focus on trust and progress through unity. Though each are very cable of acting independently they recognise as women the strength that can be found in unity. Therefore they come together as a force to protect and keep the Ent empire running.

Al She'Ahd is the highest position one can attain in Ent society outside of Primeh Et Impereh and equalled only by Sah'Gem. They have full authority and their decisions can only be Challenged by a prime (though they typically discuss things with primes before making final decisions). Their interests and shares are higher than the average member and so is their responsibility.

ABOUT

My Levidier's, my Al She'Ahd. Know that knowledge, wisdom, insight and influence is power. Govern yourself accordingly. You have earned your might, your respect, your authority. Still You continue to do so daily. It bears no consequence who does not see, as you have elevated yourself to a position beyond their reach. In many situations People have to look up to see Gods grace, those who cannot may never have the pleasure of truly seeing you or feeling your embrace.

I have named you, "blacks ravens and Persian Cats, vipers" who lay silently planning perfect moments before attack. Alongside me you have fought many wars and won so you must know by now, The weapons of a woman is not the same as a man, you should know well the gift of finesse and force, but the value of a well executed plan. You are taught if opportunity doesn't come; make it. If they shut the door on you; break it, and offer the media no stories just a well placed smile even if you have to fake it. You are Al She'Ahd, Al zied maku

Utilise elegance and grace, overcome them with knowledge, high standards and taste, if needs be slit their throats with sharp minds and hidden blades. You are not victims, you are civilised savage and if it comes down to it be the predator not the prey, sometimes as a woman it is preferable to apologise than to be apologised to. Never be acceptant of the chains society offers you or the meager roles a woman is expected to play, you are Al She'Ahd.

One must be liked, loved, respected and feared. One must always value what they have but never scared to let it go if it weights them down. The Levidian path is the one in which we have chosen, through it doors have opened.

We are not good, we are not bad, we are what is required. What is necessary, we are the balance.

One must be liked, loved, respected and feared.

Always be two steps ahead of our enemies and three steps ahead of our friends.

We are a mystica family who understands the role of the spirit.

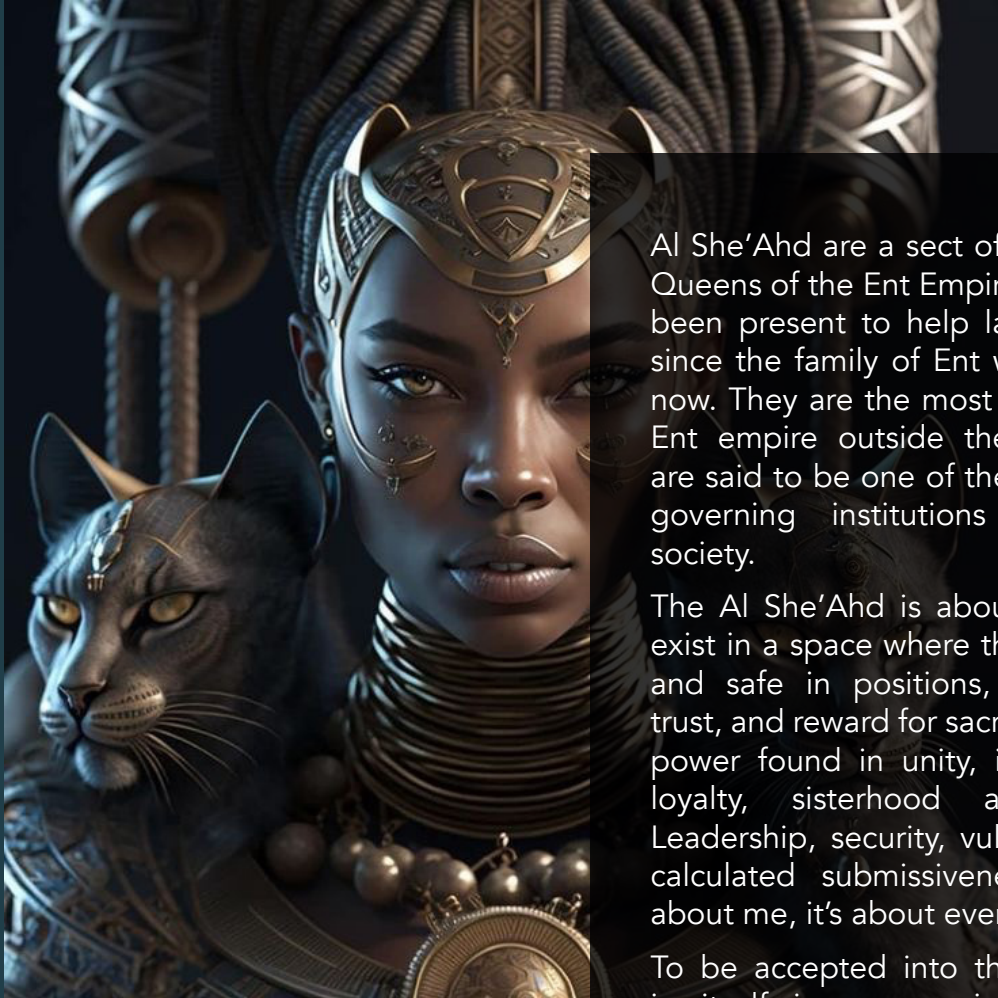

I created the Al She'Ahd on instinct, in my eyes women have always had the capacity to be greater in many capacities than men, and a wise man must surround himself with great women. What most people didn't realise is you are prizes though not for the reasons they may think. Only simple minds can think on one track, though I didn't know when the Al She'Ahd was created I was honoured to know that I wasn't the first person in history to think of it.

Before you there were at least one all female warrior militia. I implore you to continue to research women of power through history, warriors, leaders, game changers. Their victories, their losses, their strengths and their weaknesses, their perfection and flaws, until you yourself can channel them. You are women, for the fact you were chosen made you special, but each of you have won victories in wars we didn't even know in a modern society we would need to fight. You have proven yourself fierce and unrelenting, strong and efficient.

You are Adora Dehare Al She'Ahd, Levidian vipers and persian cats, crown Jewels, treasured protectors who are protected, war canaries, the black ravens on the throne. To you I say this!. Go fourth and conquer! Let no one and no thing stand in your way. You're aim can never be too high, your pride can never be laid too low as long as it achieves the result you want, you are the one claiming victory. DEHARA Levidier (in life, in death, and Beyond).

What it Means to be Al She'Ahd

Al She'Ahd are a sect of fierce warrior Queens of the Ent Empire said to have been present to help lay every brick since the family of Ent was born until now. They are the most trusted of the Ent empire outside the primes and are said to be one of the foundational governing institutions in Levidian society.

The Al She'Ahd is about safety, they exist in a space where they are secure and safe in positions, relationships, trust, and reward for sacrifice. Its about power found in unity, independence loyalty, sisterhood and comfort. Leadership, security, vulnerability and calculated submissiveness. "It's not about me, it's about everyone else"

To be accepted into the Ent empire in itself is an amazingly rare and difficult feat, much less to ascend to the position of the table of Ent so to then ascend to the title of Al She'Ahd is next to impossible. The Al She'Ahd's position in the Ent is one symbolising unrivalled trust, respect, and adoration earned by taking many actions that has resulted in your character being unquestionable when it comes to your capabilities, focuses, commitment effectiveness and goals of and within the Ent.

If for no other reason but the level of trust you have to generate to even be considered, not to mention the physical, emotional and psychological capabilities you have to exhibit to get to that level it is given the highest respect.

It is said that pursuing the position can be so challenging that it makes even the strongest of individuals question if they even want it anymore and eventually giving up leaving the Al She'Ahd to be populated by only those with the capacity to be the best with the victory of winning Al She'Ahd being won as a reward of unrivalled determination endurance and grit.

The journey is difficult but it pays off because once you truly feel what it is to be Al She'Ahd it's a feeling of security, value and safety you would sacrifice for almost nothing else in the world. "Nothing worth having comes easy in this life" "the value in the achievement is because not everyone has what it takes to achieve it". This testament of character is one of the reasons why the position of Al She'Ahd is so significant sacred and treasured.

The Al She'Ahd institution was created by the first Prime of Ent Dwayne Burrell as both a statement and a challenge. The statement to those at large was beware for they are of a quality and capability incomparable to most others, they are more than beauty, more than talent and brains, they are also deadly. The challenge was to the Al She'Ahd, A true Al She'Ahd will prove me right, all others are simply emulations and copies. I believe you are a true Al She'Ahd, show me if I'm right.

The Al She'Ahd institution was made as a statement of The Ent's stance on how we view value respect and treat women. They are not weak and defenceless people who sit around waiting for someone to do for them in fact sometimes the women are the real kings of the Ent.

They go out and hunt and fight the wars which has made them strong and powerful in their own right. They are a statement of what men and women can do when they work together in balance with comfortability in their positions, roles and responsibilities. They are protectors as they are protected, they are vulnerable and secure.

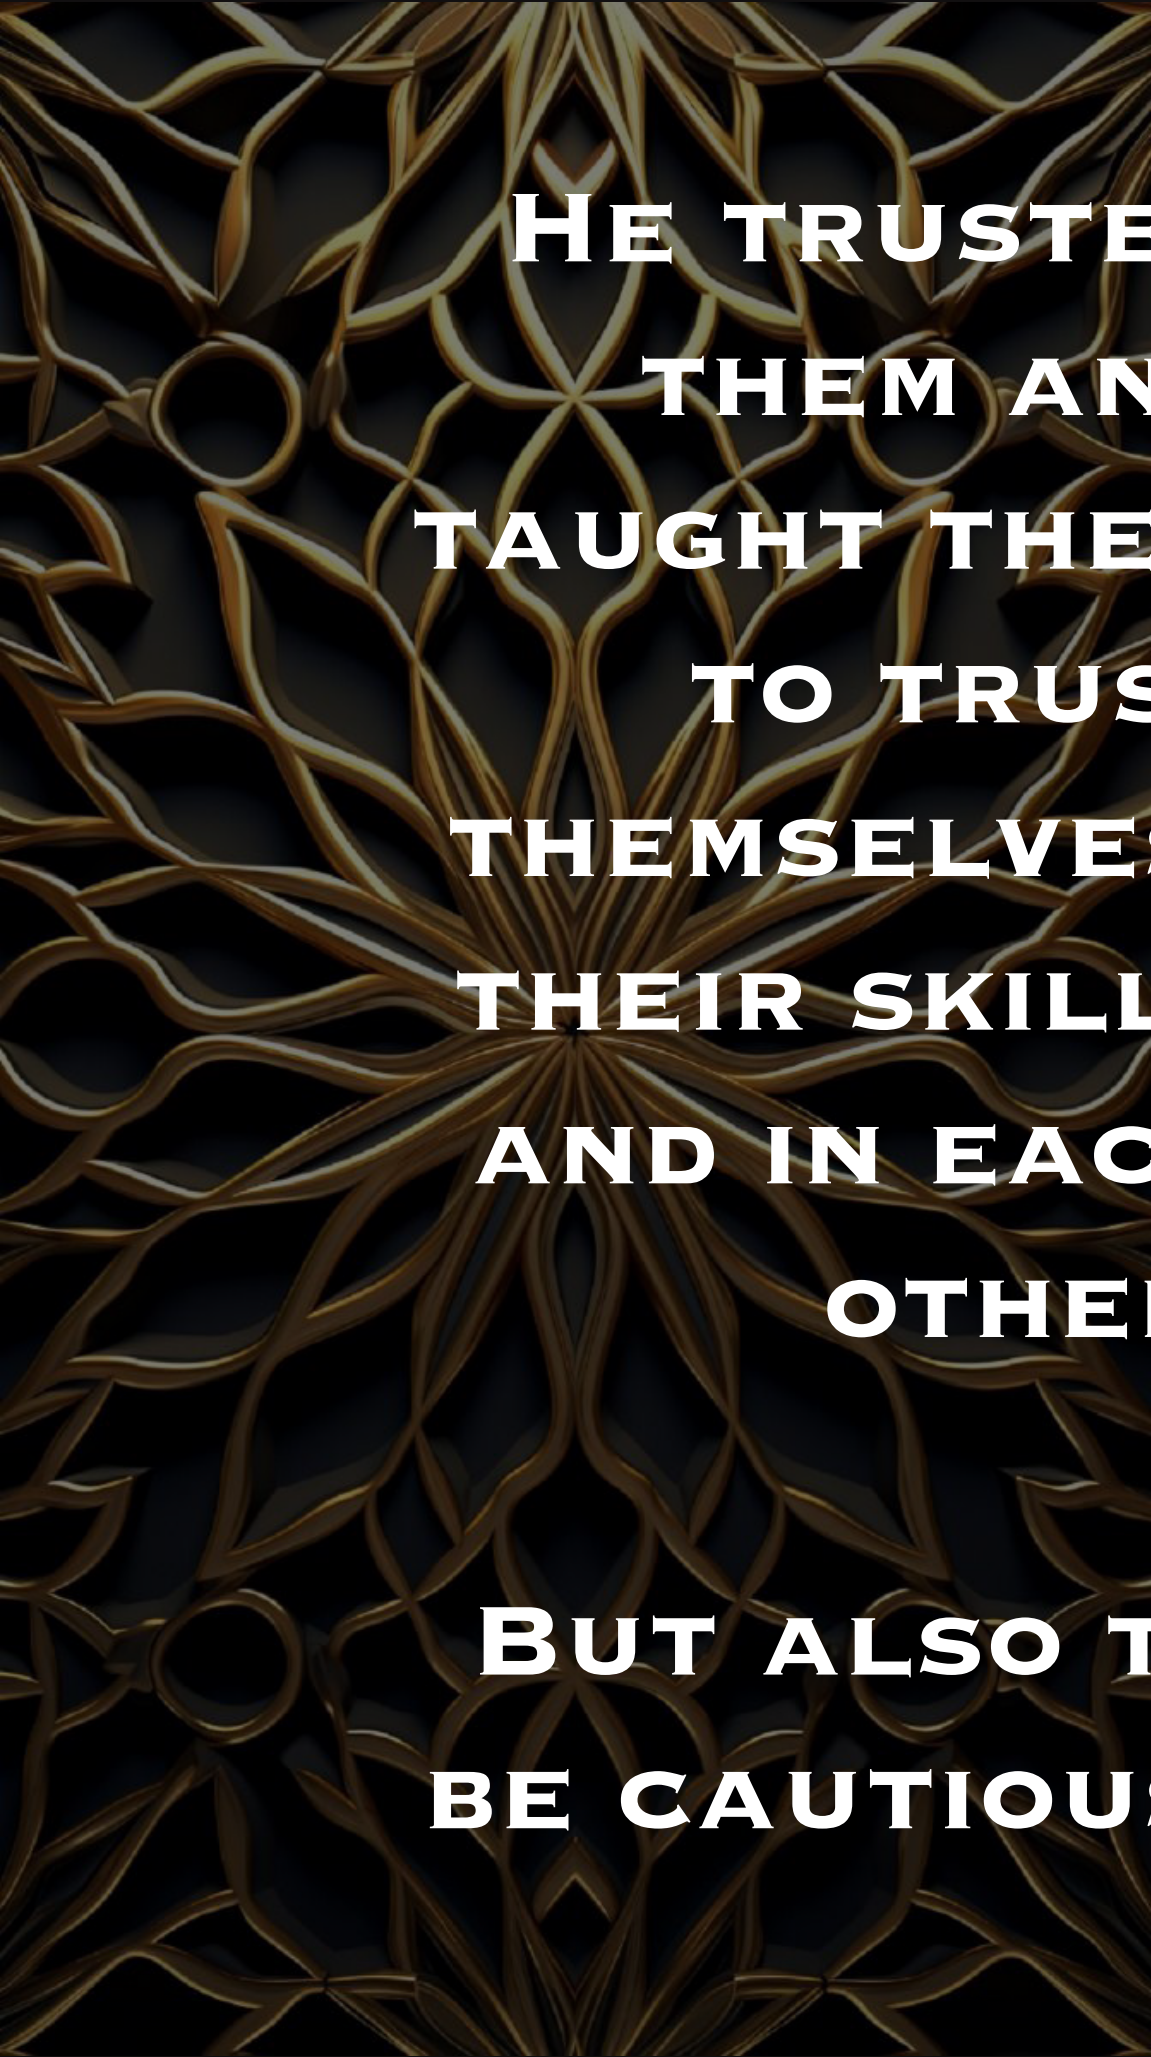

However, the creation of it was also in recognition of the women who helped hand in hand to build the Ent empire and to ensure their contributions as women, as people would be immortalised and respected and represented henceforth moving forward. Always respected; never to be forgotten or dissipate.

Not only was it there to secure their power but also to secure the Ent empire itself. Those sacred positions are also the most influential ones in terms of resources that can be given. Those positions can only be filled by the very best most trustworthy and capable. him giving the Al She'Ahd these essential tools meant they would always have a day and a foothold in how the ent is governed and the direction it takes. Therefore their power would always remain unquestionable.

By Making them instrumental to and putting them at centre of it he also created a failsafe to ensure he always had people he would need to consult convince and listen to so as to not himself go unchecked or to take actions he hasn't properly thought through therefore making mistakes.

And as his counsel and consultants He ensured their institutions was recognised an important of an institution as the primes. Infact a prime cannot Ascend to lead in the Ent without the explicit approval and support of the Al She'Ahd as Dwayne ensured their institution controlled, finances, passwords and access, legalities, people and networks, knowledge and resources across the Ent Empire, all essential things that a person would need in order to successfully lead the Ent. Putting it simply They know where things are that each person needs to get things done and where the keys for those things are kept.

The Al She'Ahd were people (Women) he believed he could trust with his life and the things he held most sacred in life. He saw through years of continued action they would protect it, respect it and honour it. Dwayne Burrell believed that in many ways women had the capacity and the potential to be more than men. When taught and given a chance they were smarter, more driven, more focused, more loyal, more determined, more dedicated in the things they truly believed in and had the ability to endure and maintain until achievement. The Al She'Ahd were the women who proved him right in this belief and he loved them for it. They were agents who once developed never failed. They built the Ent empire with him brick by brick, fought every battle and was present for every victory.

HE TRUSTED
TAUGHT THEM
TO TRUST
THEMSELVES,
THEIR SKILLS AND IN EACH OTHER.

BUT ALSO TO BE CAUTIOUS.

Due to their position and nature Dwayne recognised that they could be targets. Whether for opportunist, or weak men who seek to conquer strong women so that they may convince others that they are valuable or strong. Strength in its nature invites others to test it and The Al She'Ahd nor him would be found lacking or wanting. Levidians Especially Al She'Ahd is not victim or prey. To this End he set about creating a rigorous training programme for the Al She'Ahd He made it his mission to ensure the Al She'Ahd were trained daily. Starting with the mind, facing harsh truths and cold realities and rising through them, breaking often so that they may learn to put themselves back together like he did. Their soul, who are they, what is their purpose, what fuels them drive them and determines their actions and potential and why, what defined them. Body, strength, skill, actions, movement. Every Al She'Ahd became a force to be reckoned with.

Though this can be said about joining the levidians overall. Becoming Al She'Ahd your life changes, the limitations you faced before are no longer there, the restrictions you thought you had disappear, your mindset changes, the way you see yourself and carry yourself changes, your focuses and priorities aims and aspirations changes, things become easier to deal with and handle and loads become lighter. You develop a fighters mentality and overcome expectations. Your perceptions and wider and your instincts are sharper as you recognise dangers you never saw before as you now have responsibilities you never had before, like keeping the people around you safe. Actions you once took carelessly you no longer take as you now recognise why they were careless. You are awoken to the reality that many people have no power so your instinct becomes in every situation how to attain and secure as much as possible. You approach things from logic and objectivity which to others may at times appear cold but yet they come to rely on you in times of need as you are always effective and successful.

The truth is to be Al She'Ahd; like prime one has to give up various other aspects of their lives and many many people can't make these sacrifice. They can't leave behind the old to access the new as the new is unknown and is no guarantee while the old is comfortable, it's what you know even if it's not what you want. This is in itself another testament as to why the individuals that makes up the Al She'Ahd are so well respected and sacred, their very existence is a testament to their bravery and determination. They walk forward into the unknown despite not being certain what will happen because they recognise that there is no real choice and that is part of what makes them powerful, there is no choice but to succeed because failure means staying in their position or facing oblivion, they can only succeed because the option to fail is not an option too much depends on it.

Upon joining the Al She'Ahd people are told a story, it's of a dog chasing a cat. The dog is bigger faster stronger than the Cat but yet despite this through greater effort the cat escapes. Later on someone asks the Cat how it's possible, the cat replied simple, the dog was running for a meal, if I escape he will eventually find another one, but I was running for my life and if I lose this one there is no guarantee of another one. So despite my limitations I ran faster, I was stronger, I was smarter than that dog. And that is the position of the primes and the Al She'Ahd too many things depends on them so the option to fail isn't available and that makes them strong.

Very few are brave enough to go into the unknown in the hopes for a brighter day, a level of prepared to lose with no certainty of winning. Being Al She'Ahd means being around the core team, being at the forefront of all things such as businesses, missions, endeavours, training takes up time, so does learning, building a relationship and a bond means being present and rising and falling and rising again together. It's going through the battles the motions and the ups and downs.

Embracing Greatness & Challenges. More Than A Title.

Regardless of him creating it, the women in the Al She'Ahd had to earn it. They did this through their training in all manner of skills and knowledge as well as in their results. Their success in their endeavours built within him a that they can survive and thrive in any situation or circumstance. Creole tactics, mystic constructs and medicinal healing, strategy, tactics and political control, Outdoor survival, martial arts and self-defense, Manipulation and control,

The Al She'Ahd developed with subconscious influences from the Dora milaje of black panther comics as growing up Vae'Ron would read comic books as he planned his future in this world. Later still with more research he discovered the Agoje warriors and various other people throughout history. He also utilised Elements of the Caribbean Maroon tribe in particular Nanny as inspiration for how they move and act.

Vae'Ron's belief about The Al She'Ahd was proven over time to be correct many times over. During the period of Covid the Al She'Ahd saved his life. During his sickness they had to hold him up over a bucket in order for him to do various business, they cleaned up after him, without malice fear or scorn and they do the same thing for each other. They slept outside the hospital when he was there as Covid rules didn't permit them to enter but they wanted to be close. When he had issues with immigration and he needed large sums of money the Al She'Ahd generated it without expecting anything in return. One of them taught him to drive and he taught the rest. Their Bond is sacred and treasured each Al She'Ahd so unique but each of them so special in their own way, to the Ent and to him.

In summary the Al She'Ahd are a group of warrior women both in the ancient and modern sense. They sit at the top of the Ent empire showing in their own unique way some of the best things the Ent empire has to offer and what a Levidian really should be. They are gifted, smart, talented and capable and their bond of unity with the prime of the Ent is part of the bedrock that makes up the Ent empire. They are leaders, summoners, spiritualists and guides who also run and lead in businesses, finances and various other instrumental facets in the Ent. They were preceded and likely subconsciously inspired by the Agoje women, the maroons, and The Dora Milaje of black panther media. And they at times acts as agents and formal representatives of the Ent. Without their support a prime cannot Ascend or hold the title and their control of various instrumental facets means no one can hold the title without their support securing their own position.

They are strategic and tactical in their thinking and options which was honed by years of having to problem solve in various aspects of life for living and survival. An Al She'Ahd can never truly be conquered by a man because after surviving the building of the Ent. It's very unlikely for them to be fooled or manipulated easily or for long, though in moments if they see worthiness they may choose to strategically submit in which they have my blessing. But if truly an Al She'Ahd was conquered then I know this to be true; a true Al She'Ahd is not conquered she makes choices to submit, in this as long as there is wisdom they have my support. A true Al She'Ahd would quicker burn it all than let our family or institution be disgraced. We value it and each other too much.

The Levidian Cru'ix is the Grande name given to the combined collective of the various groups of "mission men" that makes up the factions of the Levidian Sword. Each of these factions are made up of different categories of people and type of people who each serve different purposes, and focuses on building, representing or securing the different aspects of the Ent Empire. No two groups are the same nor do they run or represent the same thing. There is a total of 5 groups known by different names and assigned a symbol named after classical weapon each, due to the names associated with them they are sometimes referred to as the "Levidian Armoury" this is purely symbolic.

SAH'GEM (THE LEVIDIAN BLADES, RIGHT HAND OF THE ENT).

The first of these are the Sah'Gem (the Levidian blades, Right hand of the Ent). The Sah'Gem by design has the fewest membership numbers, Numbering 1 or 2, with a maximum capacity of 5. They are given deep access and insight therefore are able to take on missions requiring the authority or capability of a Prime or the next best thing. (See Sah'Gem for more)

TAI RAHEED (SPEARS OF ENT)

Tai Raheed (spears of Ent) These are a group of men who are responsible for various day to day aspects of the Ent, They are a faction built outside of the primary Levidian circle therefore they share information and take instructions and missions only from a Prime. In the absence of a Prime they would work closely with the Sah'Gem and Al She'Ahd. Though outside of the standard command circle they are considered Equal men in rights and positions.

KI ET ONAHO (AXE OF ENT)

Ki Et Onaho (Axe of Ent). These are a group of men who operate day to day in standard society fulfilling missions that require more active participation in different groups and organisations. They Stay connected with society on a ground level. Their job is to know what's going on.

DEJ LOO UN (BOW & ARROWS)

Dej Loo Un (Bow & Arrows). Years ago two Levidian's were given the mission to form a disconnected group of people who the Ent calls only when there's a need for their unique skill or talent but who are consistently employed to fulfil missions.

ABOUT

You are a Levidian Cru'ix, for the fact you are able to wear that title makes you valuable, makes you tough, makes you smart and resourceful, makes you wise, greater than the average and more capable than most.

We have a mission, the mission is to achieve and to succeed, to rise and to conquer, to never be without and never falter. We want things from life, we want to be things in life. The systems and societies we are a part of sometimes feels like it's rigged to keep us down or make us fail. But we will not fail, we weren't brought here to be failures, sometimes if you want something you can't sit around waiting for it you have to go out and get it. And that's what we are, go getters, "Do whatever it takes" men.

I keep saying I make no promise this will be easy, I make no promise this won't test you or break you and remake you again, this will make you surpass yourself and question if you were ever really capable at all. But trust me when I say, you can do this, you were made for it, nothing worth having in life comes easy and I don't believe it was supposed to as it's the challenge in getting it that makes it valuable that shows the quality of one's character which is why they are worthy of respect, as what you have achieved displays the strength of your character, and capability. "What's easily attainable is rarely desirable after all". Whether you're rich or poor never be ashamed of what you have to do or have to endure to ensure your success and survival or the survival of your loved ones.

I know sometimes it feels like we solve one problem and another one pops up. We win one battle and another want starts. But that sometimes life and complaining about it won't change it or help you master it, let those situations teach you, mould you, grow you and you will be in awe of the man you become. Regardless of who you may go onto be for the fact you've come this far I recognise you, I am proud of you, and I am proud to call you my friend. A member of the Levidian Cru'ix a member of the family of business.

A warning though. We are men, yes we can break but we can't exist in a state of forever broken. Yes we have feelings and emotions but we cannot always be lead or controlled by them. The issues I find with men is they often have no conviction or capacities to see things through to completion or the very end. In other words they lack conviction, a person who is successful must be able to see through. If you haven't build a strong and stable foundation how can you build anything on top of it that would stand.

TO THE CRUIX

A MESSAGE FROM YOUR PRIME

To my Men of Value and Valor. I write You this letter of Loyalty, Fealty & love. If you are here then you are one of the most powerful men ive ever seen, capable beyond understanding or most peoples wildest dreams. Potential beyond comprehension and in this journey have become more than you thought that you could be. You are my kings, and I serve you as you serve me. We have all been tested and proven strong, have all been broken and carried on, and nobody has to put that precedent to the test because the fact you're here I know you're number one.

You have been broken and somehow through that broken became whole. I saw your truth, your hopes, your love, your goals.

I saw your hopes, your wants, your trust, and we became brothers. Through sacrifice and overcoming we grew together. And even when it was easy to run we stayed and fought and supported each other. Faced challenges, armies and many types of stormy weathers, and through them we became better and better. That's why I made the Cru'ix. A safe space where we could be, a safe place to achieve our dreams, to conquer fears and claim victory. Where we exhibit our bravery by showing our truth and vulnerability....as men who have but are also in need. This is A vehicle by which if we all play parts we know will take us to a place of "we've achieved".

What it Means to be Cru'ix

You are talented men, gifted and wise, conniving and precise but when another is down as men we all can empathise. So we rise, ready to fight each others battles, and when the weight of the world is on our shoulders we know we have the strength and if needs be we have the help of our our friends so our knees don't rattle. I love the lot of you, tigers, vipers and jackals.

I am not perfect, but alas you all by now should know that, noble, king warrior and scoundrel, civilised savage... Levidian. Just like you. But if I was to believe in anything after God, I choose to believe in me and each of you, and what I know that we can do. So if you stand with me then know that I'll be true. Like we have before whatever we may face we will get through.

I took 5 ships and made each of you the captain. Go fourth and conquer.

But please remember no man is successful on his own. You may not know each other or trust each other how you trust me, but each of you are effective, smart, tough and resilient. If you trust me value each other

You are here because life has gifted me and you the opportunity at one point to prove to each other our worthiness and our capacity to have each others backs, to fight for the same cause, and to gain the same results. Success, Victory, security and prosperity for ourselves and those we love. Though we are not the same know that we have the same drive and motivation. With time life may give you the same opportunity to do so with others here. And like me you may find someone like them valuable.

Truth is I have suffered made mistakes and learned many lessons. But what i know is though i am very capable and independent and resourceful, no successful man on the way up can be an island. A leg up can make a difference, especially when it's given by a friend. I learned no matter how perfect we are or how hard we may try or how well we do as humans one day we all end up needing a helping hand. I once thought this was weakness, i learned as time went by to have friends who will lift you up, fight for you, strive for you and who helps you stand up is sign of strenght, respect, power and responsibility. To main friendship and alliances takes great skill, wisdom, empathy and patience.

Though i know some of you can never ask. Know I will come for you (as long as i know you are in need of me) what is mine, I am willing to share with you if you are willing to share yours with me. I am willing to fight for you if you will also fight for me, I am willing to strive for you as long as you strive for me. I am willing to guard your back and your secrets. And on the additional condition that if we ever we make a promise then we each do everything we can to ensure we keep it.

I choose carefully who i surround myself with, a person can be your uprising or your downfall. And after seen you who you are, i know that together we truly will go far. I see each of you clearly and for that reason i say thank you. Thank you for Daring to believe, striving to achieve and for fighting for a dream, thank you for trusting and following me.

You are the peace, the war, the warriors and the justice, and help him rise back up.

YOU ARE THE
WARRIORS
JUSTICE, AND
HELP HIM RISE
BACK UP.

PEACE & HARMONY

The first Sah'Gem and the person who the Sect was inspired by was Levidian king Veh'Lore of clan De'Zen and the white wolves on the mountain, lord of Ent and 7th Levidier. Though doing relatively ok previous to this on his 6th year of becoming a Levidian, Veh'Lore finally hit his rock bottom (based on being given free reign to make all his own choices and living with the consequences of such) at that point Veh'Lore came home with a steel will ready to make a change, he knew who he wanted to be or at least who he didn't wish to be.

Like Levidian teachings stated "before someone could evolve they often had to go through a great cataclysmic change" and once he did, he was set on a path of truly awakening his power and becoming the man he always had the potential to become.

On that journey he exhibited mastery of self-building on his previous achievements exhibited such greatness both in the family and in himself to such a capacity/ degree that a new sect the sect of Sah'Gem the "beyond men" was created to honour and reflect that but also to house these "new men" if ever one is able to ever exhibit the same capacity and capability as him in the same degrees. He became one of the greatest soldiers of Levidier, strong, smart loyal and dedicated and the Sah'Gem is a reflection of those values that in this period Veh'Lore didn't just exhibit some great behaviour/thoughts and actions and suddenly become Sah'Gem. He built on long formed and established foundations of himself laid fourth since the day he became a Levidian member. Such as his strength of character, loyalty, love, dedication, and sacrifice. What's being described here is what essentially helped him to grow up to a point he could gain what was to remaining to truly grow to a place where he could be truly classed as Sah'Gem (The trusted).

For the first time he took physical control of himself and was destined to recognise and decided who he had become and was still growing to be. Veh'Lore expanded his horizons and capabilities both intrinsic to himself and extrinsic to the Ent and others. To become Sah'Gem Veh'Lore had to do the hardest things, conquer himself, be honest to himself and then let the old him go so that he can claim the new. "When your demons say they are simply a reflection of you you have to know yourself to beat them." He took the lessons he was taught as a member of the Ent and discovered many similarities in studies of stoicism using both things to bolster each other to deepen his understanding of self, allowing him to get a much more rounded and clearer picture of what he wanted to be.

From Vehlore's time of arrival in the Ent, Prime of the Ent

Vae'Ron took Veh'Lore in and taught him with special care attention and interest. Helping him to forge his own fire and become steel. So as to survive the path of Ent that he had so willingly chosen. However somewhere along the path Veh'Lore was told by Vae'ron that in order to get to the next stage of his training there are things he must discover for himself, one of them being "his foundation", the stable foundation on which he needs to place his fulcrum that stabilises how he uses levels to shape his reality. To access power in his own right he must prove himself worthy of it. Giving it is a subsection of somebody else is like being someone's plus one at a wedding, you're there but you don't really belong. But when he discovers "it" (his foundations) he will know. As it was spoken so it was true Veh'Lore did indeed discover it. During the time of Veh'Lores transformation the two became true brothers in these moments spending an extraordinary amount of time together, training, debating, learning, growing and in honour of Vae'ron and the Ent and Veh'Lore himself recognising that. Veh'Lore had finally become the levidian he always could be and so in that truly became Vae'Rons true brother not just a weight or responsibility, but a man who can lift and carry his own weight but also take on more to help others (among others reasons) the sect of Sah'Gem was declared and formed.

ASPIRATION

Many people have aspects of Sah'Gem just like many people have aspects of greatness. But it doesn't necessarily make them a true Sah'Gem. By no means is Sah'Gem a perfect man or a perfect human, a Sah'Gem has flaws, makes mistakes has imperfections, but it's what those weaknesses, flaws and imperfection make you, how you control them and how you allow them to impact and mould you that decides who meets the quality of Sah'Gem Sah'Gems are known as beyond men, men who goes beyond what was expected, imagined, asked for, needed, understood (by outsiders). They surpass expectations, their value, valour and nobility goes beyond reasoning and so they are trusted and empowered. It is said that Men of the Sah'Gem are symbols of what the Ent should be. Powerful without being intimidating, giving without expecting, forgiving, smart, strong, dedicated and loyal.

They can come from any position, any status, any race, any walk or path of life, as long as they are not simply average, though it may be where they start it's not where they end. Sah'Gem are men beyond "men".

BADGES OF HONOUR

The Sah'Gem was inspired by and formed out of respect for (at the time) one man, and because he was proof of concept that it was possible for people like him to even exist, a group was created to house and honour him and those who may come after him who has proven Sah'Gem. They proved themselves with acts that goes beyond what could be expected predicted or asked for in any capacity. Being clear a Sah'Gem is as close to a Levidian's version of a perfect male candidate as one can go, it means they have evolved to a place of true acceptance without concern or boundary as they have proven themselves in all necessary areas. Even at times when they shouldn't have or wasn't asked to.

ONE - FORTITUDE

The first Sah'Gem had addictions, the first challenge that he had to display was the test of fortitude, the ability to control one self so as to not be controlled by what's around them. A man has to have the power to choose when to be a slave and what to be a slave to otherwise that man has no power. A Sah'Gem is a display of power, therefore one must be powerful. A Sah'Gem has to know themselves enough to face their truth, face their lies, face their demons, face their darkness, and win. The first Sah'Gem conquered his addiction as proof of fortitude for 1 thousand and 95 days & nights to earn himself the honour of fortitude the first blade of Sah'Gem.

TWO - SILENCE

The second badge earned was the badge of silence. Information is power and one must know how to control the flow of information in order to control the flow of power. Borders and boundaries are an important way of directing waters and rivers. A Sah'Gem must Live in the future though they exist in the present. Predict and plan for everything even the impossible, leave nothing to chance. A Sah'Gems loyalty is tested when his heart belongs to another does his lips slip, does his stance change, does he prove that because the doors of his heart are open so too is the doors to our vault our secrets. Is compromising him, compromising the Ent. The first Sah'Gem proved this 3x over before he won the badge of Silence.

THREE - CHARACTER

The third badge of the Sah'Gem is the badge "character" symbolising, quality, honour, valour and virtue. Do you do what you do only when someone watches you or do you do it every time. Regardless of who sees you or don't. Do you do things because it's the right thing to do, the best thing to do the important thing to do, or do you take the easy way because why not "it's what everyone else would do". If you do what everyone else would do then you belong to the faction of everyone else you are not Sah'Gem, do you hold yourself to a standard with a level of accountability. This is an important badge because it's the one always on display but the key one that determines whether you are classed as Sah'Gem or not, many people may be strong, many people may endure, but not many people have great character. it's about the mind and the heart, the instincts, the darkness balanced with the light. The core values the ying and the yang. And only someone who is real can be classed as Sah'Gem

FOUR - ORE

The badge of "Ore" which describes, strength even when you're broken or breaking does everyone have to know, does everyone have to witness it? When you're done can you put yourself back together?, how badly do you need an external factors help to do that, (it's not a bad thing to accept help from others or for people to know you are breaking or broken, but to what degree or capacity is it a need) are you the type to regularly just sit on the floor feeling hopeless and defeated only moving when someone tells you to or tells you it will be ok, or are you the type to get up and says it's time to get going to make a way even if I'm not sure how yet it will be ok. Is someone constantly picking you up or pushing you, are you a burden lumbering on someone else? An arm to lift weight off their shoulders, are you an asset or a liability, when necessary can you still hold yourself together at least long enough to complete the current task or mission. Do you have a stiff upper lip and at the very least a crooked smile. Be clear this badge isn't saying that nothing is allowed to be wrong and that wrong should never effect you or that you should never need help. The Sah'Gem is a brotherhood after all, this badge is evaluating and describing your mindset and mental/physical, and spiritual capacity which impacts how much you need them and in what capacities.

FIVE - SURRENDER

The badge of "surrender" which deals in humility growth and learning. When you are down people seek to raise you up, but when you are up people seek to tear you down. The badge of humility speaks on a Sah'Gems ability to understand their place, position and purpose in the grand scheme of things and be at peace with that, it's understanding their is value in each role and position and none is more important than the other, what's more important is the success of whatever mission act or endeavour there is ahead of you.

SIX - ???

There are times a Sah'Gem must lead, times a Sah'Gem must follow, times a Sah'Gem must be defended times they must be defenders. A Sah'Gem understands their value and self worth and therefore doesn't need to exert force or convince anyone of their value or place they simply must be them. A Sah'Gem understands they are both a master with much more to learn and a student with much to teach. So they gain from others while they give onto others freely knowing that even if they don't gain here they will gain somewhere else.

SEVEN - ENDURANCE

The badge of "endurance" talks of one's capacity to deal with pain without letting it obliterate who you are physically, emotionally, psychologically, spiritually, practically, metaphorically. It means how effective you are at never letting the world and the circumstances around you permanently remove or dull your shine. Ones ability to still see things worth fighting for, protecting, defending, striving for even in a world and a life where sometimes it feels like wants to convince you that all things are dark and hopeless. It's the simple laughs, the fight for and fight with my brothers, the "things aren't so bad or deep" the hope of reality discovered in a dream. This part of the Sah'Gem talks about the internal and integral hope and strife for a better world and that deep desire to be the change you want to see it in so you may fulfil your one human responsibility of trying to leave something in an equal or better way than you found it.

EIGHT - INSIGHT

The final badge is the badge of "insight" Who are you, who do you want to be, what are your core values, why, where are you?, where are you going, where do you want to be, why?, how do you get there. Fulcrum, levers, perceptions, codes of life, laws of the universe, acceptance, fear mastery, truth and lies and more all of which one must know to be Sah'Gem.
