About THE ICON

Vehlore Dezen—also known as the White Wolf on the Mountain—is the trusted right hand of the Ent Empire. A strategist with sharp instincts, unwavering loyalty, and unmatched reliability, Sam Foster has become the measure of what it means to be a Levidian King. His rise through the ranks is not only respected—it's studied.

With discipline forged through hardship and refinement born of introspection, Sam embodies Levidian steel folded many times—tempered, tested, and true.

WHAT THE ENT EMPIRE SAYS ABOUT HIM

“Vehlore is the standard by which all Levidian Kings (outside of Vae’Ron) —past, present, and future—are measured. Virtuous, humble, adaptable, and endlessly dependable, he is a sword of the Ent sharpened through relentless self-honing. Whether in leadership or support, he always returns the outcome needed. He is Levidian excellence personified.”

IN HIS OWN WORDS

“My past was marked by weakness—addiction, lack of discipline, and fear. But through self-honesty, I’ve found strength I never thought possible. I am not perfect—but I am principled. Loyal. Willing. The path hasn’t been pretty, but it has been powerful.”

“Hardship reveals who we are at the core. For anyone reading this—use your struggles to find the truth within. Don’t fear the hard questions. Be honest. Be brave. That’s where transformation begins.”

— Dehara Levidier | The White Wolf on the Mountain

LIFE JOURNEY: THE FULL STORY

Sam Foster was born in the UK as the eldest of eight siblings—five of whom shared his household. While his family lacked wealth in a material sense, they were rich in values: loyalty, responsibility, and unity.

Early Education & Athletic Drive

- Sam experienced the full UK education system: nursery to university.
- He played sports passionately, captaining both football and cricket teams at school.
- Later, he competed at semi-professional football level, playing for Erith & Belvedere and Welling United.

These experiences taught him discipline, leadership, and the power of team synergy—skills that would later define his role in the Ent.

The Coach and Mentor

After school, Sam pursued coaching, earning his badges to teach young athletes. His goal wasn't just to train skill—but to build character. He used sport as a vessel to teach life lessons, paying forward what he had learned.

“Sport was never just about winning. It was about becoming—stronger, wiser, more grounded. I wanted to give that to the next generation.”

RISE OF THE WHITE WOLF

In the Ent Empire, Vehlore's abilities didn't go unnoticed. He was elevated swiftly—not due to favoritism, but because of results. He consistently delivered, led with humility, and demonstrated the instincts of a true King.

He has learned when to step forward and when to hang back, making him both strategic and self-aware. Whether in battle, negotiations, or brotherhood—Sam is known to answer the call.

HOUSE OF THE MOUNTAIN WOLVES

House Dezen is the Levidian house of Connections and Investments—a perfect reflection of Sam's ability to bridge, bond, and build. Whether forging alliances or developing others, his leadership shapes the very structure of the Ent's future.

LEGACY AND VISION

Sam Foster's journey—from inner turmoil to Levidian greatness—is more than a story of personal redemption. It's a guidebook for transformation. "I'm no longer surviving. I'm no longer hiding. I stand today as a man forged through fire, guided by truth, and committed to helping others rise."

Sam is the Levidier that continues to surpass expectations, when he was recruited it wasn't believed that Sam would last as long as some of the others that was recruited before, alongside or after him. But while most have fallen by the wayside it's no mistake that the white wolf has remained standing, forever looking onwards from the mountain and he continues to grow rise and thrive even still.

His dependability loyalty and capability has made him one of the most trusted and respected members of the Levidier and is without a doubt one of the top three greatest kings.

Those close to the inner circle observe that Dwayne, the Architect of the Ent, took a particular interest in Sam early on. From the beginning, he was pushed ruthlessly—his training focused not just on results, but on perception, precision, and control.

When asked why, Dwayne responded:

"Unlike others I've come across—Sam can actually make it. He can truly achieve greatness. And I can't stand wasted potential."

Others say it's even deeper—that Dwayne loves Sam, and once he loves you, he makes it his mission to render you invincible.

THE SPIRIT OF THE WOLF

“The wolf spirit means you have the capacity to make quick and firm emotional attachments—and you trust your instincts about them.”

This is Sam’s core.

He moves with intuition, builds loyalty through integrity, and with an innate wisdom sharpened by hard-earned insight. He doesn’t rush decisions, but when action is needed, he does not hesitate.

Some of Sam’s favourite lessons through his trainings are:

“In any situation, ask yourself: What do I need to learn, gain, understand, experience, or achieve—to get to the next stage?”

This mantra underpins his strategy in leadership, mentorship, and personal growth.

And perhaps most importantly:

“If you don’t know who you are or what you want—then you don’t know where you’re going. And you will always be going in circles.”

Growth happens often when pain is applied what we should seek to control is how much pain is required for growth.

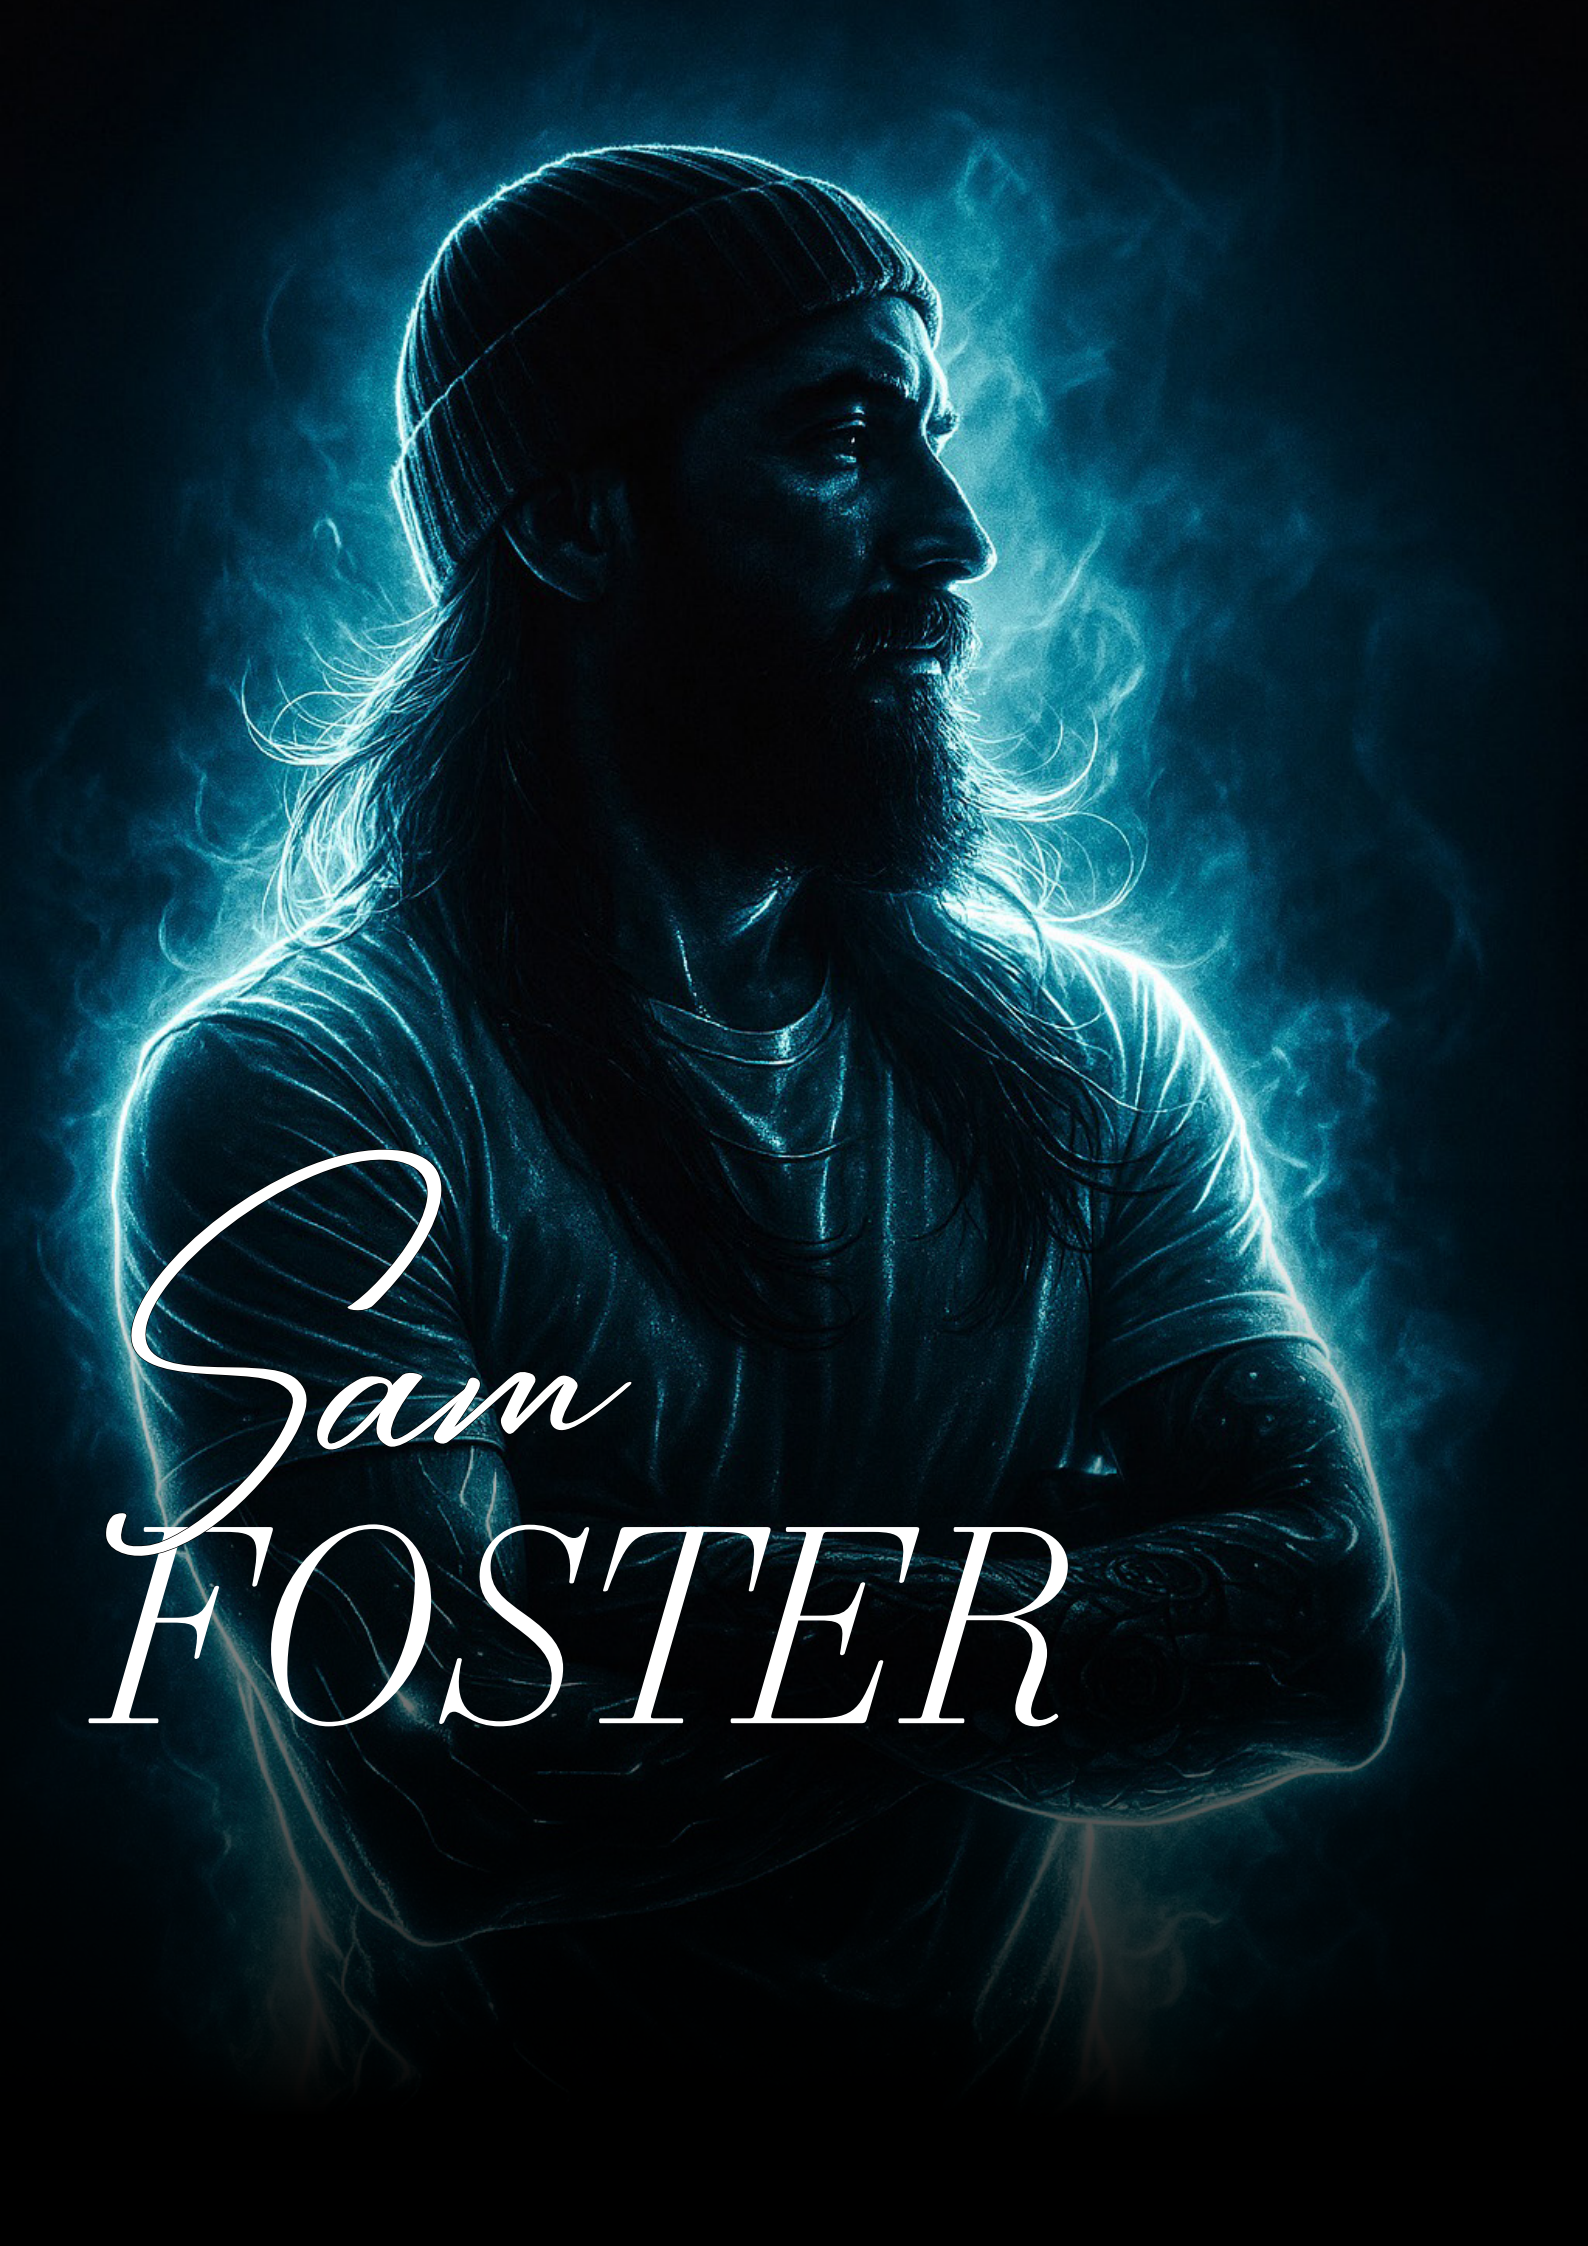

LEGACY IN MOTION

Sam Foster—Vehlore Dezen—is not just a name or a title. He is a standard, a spearhead, a King carved from Levidian stone and shadow. He walks the mountain alone but forges paths for others to follow. His greatness is not accidental. It is earned, engineered, and evolving.

The Wolf is always watching.

And the Mountain always remembers.
