TRAITS

- ♦ Resilient — Dominique has an ability to experience difficulty, disappointment or pressure without allowing it to permanently define where she goes next.
- ♦ Strong-willed — Once she has made her mind up about something important, she can be incredibly difficult to move.
- ♦ Independent — She values having her own identity, opinions and direction. She is capable of standing apart from the group rather than changing herself to fit within it.
- ♦ Loyal — Dominique places considerable value on the people she genuinely considers close to her. When trust has been established, she is deeply committed.
- ♦ Protective — She does not like seeing the people she cares about mistreated. Her protective instincts can transform an otherwise relaxed personality into something formidable.
- ♦ Persistent — Difficult circumstances do not easily convince her to abandon something that matters. She has an ability to keep moving even when progress is slow or uncomfortable.
- ♦ Grounded — She can bring a practical perspective to situations and is capable of recognising when something needs to be dealt with rather than just discussed.
- ♦ Direct — She is capable of saying what she thinks, which means people generally understand where they stand with her.
- ♦ Dependable — When she takes responsibility for something seriously, she can be relied upon to see it through.
- ♦ Adaptable — She has an ability to adjust to changing circumstances and continue functioning even when things do not unfold as expected.
- ♦ Courageous — She is capable of confronting uncomfortable situations rather than always choosing the easiest route.
- ♦ Authentic — There is an individuality to Dominique. She is most comfortable when she can simply be herself.

PERSONALITY

- ♦ Strong but approachable — Dominique has a combination of strength and warmth. She can be friendly, humorous and easy to interact with while still possessing clear boundaries.
- ♦ Resilient under pressure — Difficult experiences can affect her, but they rarely become the end of her story. She has an ability to regroup, adapt and continue moving forward.
- ♦ Independent-minded — She does not need everybody around her to agree with her. Dominique is capable of reaching her own conclusions and remaining comfortable with them.
- ♦ Playful when comfortable — Around people she trusts, Dominique can be relaxed, humorous and willing to joke around. Her strength is only one part of her personality.
- ♦ Direct when necessary — She can tolerate a great deal, but when something needs addressing, she is capable of making her position very clear.
- ♦ Protective of her people — She takes loyalty seriously and can be particularly assertive when someone she cares about is being treated unfairly.
- ♦ Determined — Once she decides something is worth pursuing, she can continue long after the initial motivation has disappeared. She understands that progress sometimes requires simply continuing.
- ♦ Social but individual — Dominique enjoys company and shared experiences without losing her own identity within it. Connection does not require conformity.
- ♦ Practical — When problems arise, she can focus on what can actually be done rather than remaining trapped in what should have happened.
- ♦ Unpretentious — She does not need everything to be overly complicated or ceremonial. There is a straightforward quality to her personality that makes interactions genuine.
- ♦ Quietly formidable — She does not always need to announce her strength. Much of it becomes apparent through what she survives, what she carries and her willingness to keep going.
- ♦ Emotionally stronger than she sometimes appears — She can feel situations deeply without allowing those emotions to dictate what happens next.

OVERALL

Overall, Dominique is a strong-willed, loyal and grounded person whose defining quality is her ability to endure and continue. She can be playful and approachable in ordinary circumstances, but when difficulty arrives, a considerably tougher part of her personality becomes visible.

Her resilience is not about never being affected. It is about being affected without remaining defeated. She can experience setbacks, adapt to changing circumstances and still find a way forward while retaining her identity and loyalty to the people who matter to her.

This combination of strength, endurance, independence, loyalty and resilience is a large part of what makes her Za'Hari — and why Resilience is such a natural representation of her within Levidier.
