TRAITS

- ♦ Compassionate — Tanya has a naturally caring disposition and is attentive to the wellbeing of the people around her.
- ♦ Community-minded — She places great importance on family, friendship, belonging and bringing people together.
- ♦ Protective — When she cares about someone, she takes their wellbeing seriously and becomes extremely firm when needed.
- ♦ Emotionally intelligent — She is perceptive of people's feelings, moods and interpersonal dynamics.
- ♦ Supportive — She is someone people can turn to for reassurance, encouragement and practical help.
- ♦ Loyal — Relationships matter deeply to her and she invests heavily in maintaining and protecting them.
- ♦ Responsible — She takes her commitments seriously and understands that caring for people sometimes means carrying responsibility even when inconvenient.
- ♦ Strong-willed — Her warmth should not be mistaken for weakness. She has firm opinions and the confidence to stand her ground.
- ♦ Socially aware — She understands people well and is conscious of how different personalities and circumstances interact within a group.
- ♦ Grounding — She provides stability when others become overwhelmed, bringing situations back to what is important.
- ♦ Generous — She is willing to give her time, energy and support to people she believes genuinely need it.
- ♦ Family-oriented — The people she considers family hold an especially important place in her life.

PERSONALITY

- ♦ Warm and personable — Tanya is naturally approachable and enjoys conversation, laughter and making people feel comfortable.
- ♦ Affectionate — She expresses care openly with the people closest to her and actively invests in her relationships.
- ♦ Protective and maternal — She often assumes a caring role within groups, instinctively moving towards helping, advising or defending.
- ♦ Strong but soft-hearted — She combines emotional warmth with considerable inner strength and can be compassionate without being passive.
- ♦ People-focused — She often begins with the people involved, considering morale, relationships and how decisions will affect those around her.
- ♦ Expressive — She communicates what she thinks and feels clearly. When something matters to her, people know where they stand.
- ♦ Diplomatic, but not endlessly — She tries to preserve relationships and resolve problems, but when a boundary is crossed she is direct and uncompromising.
- ♦ Social and community-driven — She enjoys connection and shared experiences and has a natural instinct for creating inclusive environments.
- ♦ Emotionally perceptive — She often recognises when someone isn't feeling as they appear, making her attentive to those who may be struggling quietly.
- ♦ Playful and lively — She can be humorous, energetic and willing to join in with the chaos around people she is comfortable with.
- ♦ Principled in relationships — She values loyalty, respect and reciprocity, expecting genuine effort from both sides.
- ♦ Resilient — She can carry emotional and practical responsibilities for long periods. Difficult experiences may affect her deeply, but they do not remove her ability to keep functioning for the people who depend on her.

OVERALL

Overall, Tanya is a warm, community-minded and protective person whose strength is expressed largely through people. She values connection, loyalty and belonging, but possesses enough strength of character to establish boundaries and stand firmly when necessary.

She is someone who can nurture a community while also helping to hold it together. Beneath her sociable and affectionate nature is a serious sense of responsibility towards the people she considers her own.

This combination of compassion and strength, warmth and firmness, individuality and community is a large part of what makes her Li'Naris—and why Community is such a natural representation of her within Levidier.
