

LEVIDIER

THE OATH OF LIONS

The Oath of Lions

I will not whisper when truth deserves thunder.
I will not follow where silence leads shame.
I will stand when it matters, whatever the cost,
And hold to my purpose when others are lost.

I lead not for praise, nor glory, or crown,
But to hold up our walls, and carve paths in the ground.
With wisdom, I measure. With foresight, I see.
For the choices of now shape what tomorrow will be.

I will study the field before making my move.
I will know when to wait and strike when I choose.
I will do what is needed, not merely what is liked,
And stand for my people through darkness or light.

My power needs no roar; through presence, it is known.
My silence carries wisdom; through restraint, strength is shown.
I possess faith that no one can subdue
And love that builds nations, enduring and true.

With strategy, I move; with wisdom, I choose.
With foresight, I build; with strength, I break through.
